State Road Work Held Up by Lack of U.S. Aid

Bids on 14 Projects Postponed To Await Congress Action on Funds

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — New York State's highway - building program will be delayed seriously because federal aid had run out, the State Public Works Department said today.

The department said it had postponed this week's scheduled bid-opening for 14 projects estimated to cost a total of $36,800,000.

Public Works Superintendent J. Burch McMoran said he was forced to do so because Congress had failed to replenish the federal highway-aid fund.

Awaiting Congress Action
He said the state would let no new contracts for federally aided projects until Congress had passed legislation to replenish the fund.

He said the projects would be re-scheduled for bid-opening on Sept. 10 if the state was assured at that time that federal aid would be forthcoming.

"Obviously," he said, "this forced delay means we will not be able to meet our program commitments this year."

90 Per Cent of Work
The department had scheduled 303 million dollars' worth of road building for the state fiscal year that began April 1. Federally aided projects constitute about 90 per cent of the whole program.

Since April the state has let contracts for 87 million of the 303 million dollars.

The federal government pays 50 per cent of the cost of primary secondary and urban projects and 90 per cent of interstate projects. This ratio also applies to the cost of acquiring rights-of-way.

McMoran said the state also halted its right-of-way acquisition program.

Will Have to Pay
McMoran said New York already had obligated more than 20 million dollars in anticipation of federal reimbursement. If the money is not forthcoming, he said, the state will have to pay it out of its own funds.

"Neither New York nor any other state is in a position to assume the full burden of cost of its current highway program," he asserted.

McMoran said he had been informed by the American Association of State Highway Officials that half of the states had discontinued letting contracts and the rest of the states were doing the same this week.

Six Primary Projects
The projects scheduled for bid-opening this week but postponed include six primary projects, four interstate jobs, three secondary and one urban project.

The interstate projects include (Continued on Page 6, Col. 8)

Toledo Businessmen Fight Lure of Shopping Centers

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Downtown Toledo, fighting to hold its retail business from the lure of shopping centers in the outskirts, is using some of the tricks of its suburban rivals.

The city began Monday a 45-day trial of four downtown pedestrian malls, complete with grass, trees, flowering shrubs, blooming flowers, benches, and a playground for the kiddies.

And to top what the shopping centers offer, the malls include an elongated pool containing five penguins from the Toledo Zoo and at other spots Saturday from the Toledo Museum of Art.

All this where only four days ago were only asphalt, cement, brick, and the busy bustle of vehicular traffic.

Thousands of Toledoans responded as the malls officially opened, milling through the four-

Allies Are Assured of All Data To Be Consulted On Visit Actions

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
GENEVA (AP) — The United States has assured its chief Western Allies it will inform them fully of developments in the talks between President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and will consult them on any specific agreements which may be proposed.

Eisenhower, officials say, is determined not to give Khrushchev any opening for a wedge between the United States and other countries in the Western Alliance.

No Secret Deals
Informed officials said the President, in his European swing before he meets Khrushchev, will assure British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, French President Charles de Gaulle, and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer that no deals will be made behind their backs.

He also wants to get their ideas about problems he and Khrushchev may take up and their suggestions for improving East-West relations.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville are reported to have agreed that, in view of their deadlock with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko over Berlin, the Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks are highly desirable.

Last Session Wednesday
The last session of the foreign ministers' conference is set for Wednesday. It is expected that the conference will end with a brief communique announcing agreement to disagree and declaring the meeting in recess. The next round of talks may come at New York in mid-September, when the ministers are expected to be on hand for the opening days of the annual U.N. General Assembly.

Escape Injury
Occupants of two vehicles escaped injury Monday at 2:30 p. m. when the cars collided on Granite Road, Kerhonkson. State Police Corporal N. G. Leckies of Ellenville said the cars were driven by Tobias Morgan, 37, of Ford, N. J., and Philip Walfish, 39, of Whitestone. Troopers said the automobiles were traveling in opposite directions when Walfish's car skidded as he applied the brakes and his vehicle hit the Morgan sedan, and pushed it off the road.

Boy Under Treatment
Two-year-old Donald Ten-Brouck, of 47 Meadow Street, was admitted to Kingston Hospital Monday, after suffering an apparent choking spell. Police received an emergency call about the boy's condition, and Fatum's ambulance service responded and administered oxygen en route to the hospital in the 2-way radio equipped ambulance. The hospital said the boy remains under treatment.

Nixon Continues Trip Through Poland Today

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon continues his triumphal, whirlwind visit to Communist-ruled Poland today with an official luncheon and a sightseeing tour of Warsaw. Today's itinerary included lunch with Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz, a visit to a housing development, a three-hour drive through Warsaw's suburbs, and a talk with students at the University of Warsaw.

U.S. Ambassador Jacob D. Beam gives a reception for the visitors tonight, and they fly back to Washington Wednesday.

During another day of cheers from wildly enthusiastic Polish crowds, Nixon spent 3½ hours Monday discussing international issues and Polish-American problems with Communist party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka. He wound up his arduous day as guest of honor at a reception by President Aleksandr Zawaski.

Nixon was accompanied by Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, brother of the President, at his long talk with Gomulka. Three hours had been allotted for the visit, but the party chief had lunch brought to his office so the discussion could continue.

Others Present
Also present were Premier Cyrankiewicz and Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki, author of a Soviet-supported plan for an atom-free zone in central Europe which the United States has opposed.

Nixon said later the talk had ranged over international matters as well as Polish-American problems.

The length of the talk forced Nixon to cancel a visit to the remnant of Warsaw's Jewish ghetto, where about 500 persons waited patiently to get a look at the vice president.

At the president's reception, Nixon won applause from Polish officials and foreign diplomats with a toast to peace.

Speaking in the great hall of the palace of Poland's cabinet, the vice president recalled that President Eisenhower had seen the war destruction in Poland 14 years ago and that Nixon himself had seen Warsaw's reconstruction.

Nixon referred to his talks with Polish leaders during the day. "There was complete agreement on this one issue: what happened to Warsaw, what happened to Poland in the last war, to Poland that suffered in two wars, must not happen again either to Poland or any other country on earth," he declared.

Mr. and Mrs. Bolz will make their home in the City of Kingston.

Exchange Visits No Reason to Believe Cold War Calm Will Bring World Peace

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is taking a calculated risk in accepting an invitation to visit the United States.

His exchange of visits with President Eisenhower will permit an unusual calm to settle over the main arenas of the cold war for a couple of months. But there is no reason to suppose that peace has broken out.

Khrushchev has long indicated he badly wanted the invitation to America. He maneuvered industriously to get it. But why was he so eager?

Others on Outside
Khrushchev's projected few days in Washington and President Eisenhower's in Moscow will be in effect a meeting at the summit, a two-sided meeting with other countries on the outside.

The Western Allies are being reassured and are making noises like they are welcoming the exchange. By the time Khrushchev gets through, they possibly will be wondering what really went on behind closed doors. The idea that Khrushchev is thinking along such lines cannot be discarded, for he is known to have entertained a notion of splitting the Allies by hinting at a possible two-way deal to keep the world in its place.

Some Risks For Premier
But there is some risk for Khrushchev himself. The same uneasiness he may seek to arouse among the Western Europeans also can be provoked among the Chinese Communists. A Moscow-Washington display of peace, friendship, and all's right with the world can hardly make Peiping sublimely happy.

Red China is in no position to flirt with the idea of world peace. It has too far to go, straining ev-

Desire Is To Visit UN Start To Tour Nation In 10-Day Stay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speculation on the precise date for Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's visit to the United States ranged today from Sept. 8 to Sept. 16. The choice depends at least in part on the Communist chief's own planning for use of a worldwide sounding board.

Khrushchev has expressed interest in being in this country when the United Nations General Assembly convenes in New York Sept. 15.

No Date Decided
Officials close to the negotiations for an exchange of visits between Khrushchev and President Eisenhower insist nothing so exact as an arrival date has been decided. The White House and the Kremlin, in announcing the plan Monday, spoke only generally of mid-September with a stay of two or three days in Washington and a 10-day tour of the country.

Informants say such details usually are left to a high-level visitor.

On that basis, officials considered the date could depend on Khrushchev's own choice; to start off in this country with a bang in the General Assembly, or to get a buildup and background out of conferences and travels in advance.

Raised to Summit Level
In any event the exchange of visits raises U.S.-Soviet diplomacy to the summit level, whether or not it results in a formal summit conference on a broader scale.

His exchange of visits with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and an earlier trip to Europe to confer with heads of the major Western Allies will give Eisenhower direct contacts with the participants in any later summit meeting.

Favorable Reaction
A generally favorable reaction, both in this country and elsewhere in the world, greeted Monday's announcement that Khrushchev has accepted Eisenhower's invitation to visit the United States next month.

Many expressed hope that East-West tensions would be eased if Khrushchev were impressed first hand with the nation's strength and peaceful intentions.

Communist China was notably absent from the chorus of praise on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

This increased the feeling in the West that party Chairman Mao Tse-tung and his associates were troubled over the top-level East-West meetings from which they will be excluded.

Talks with Eisenhower and a 10-day tour of the country are among the plans for the Khrushchev visit. Reports from Moscow said the Soviet Premier is expected to bring along his wife, son and daughter.

Injunction Clause Not Expected Till Emergency Comes

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y. (AP) — The U. S. Secretary of Labor says he does not expect President Eisenhower to use the 80-day injunction provision of the Taft-Hartley law unless the current steel strike becomes a national emergency.

James P. Mitchell said Monday night "This is not the situation now, and it is not the situation in the foreseeable future. He spoke at the Chautauqua Institution, a summer cultural colony in this Western New York community."

He now is serving as a fact-finder for the President in the dispute.

At a press conference, Mitchell said he would not inject himself further in the strike than he already had.

In his speech to 2,000 people at an outdoor amphitheater, the secretary said the consumer had been neglected by labor and management.

"He (the consumer) has not gotten his fair share of the benefits of increased productivity. Labor and management have split these increases."

"Soner of later, labor and management will realize that there is a third party at the bargaining tables," he said.

He declined an answer when asked if he thought steelworkers should receive a wage boost.

Lions Praised For Eye Bank

The Kingston Lions Club has received the praise of Douglas O'Malley, executive secretary of the Sight Conservation Society of Northeastern New York, Inc., in a recent communication.

O'Malley's statement came upon receipt of a check for $500 from Past President George Svirsky.

In lauding the Lions, he cited the club as one of the original founders of the eye bank and has generously supported it since its beginning in 1952.

The eye bank has delivered more than 1,000 human eyes to which the local club has contributed each year. Svirsky said the contribution has been made possible by the very generous support of the public to the exposition sponsored by the club each year.

Proceeds from the blind seal sale now in progress are used locally for the club's sight conservation and blind work.

The eye bank has been assured by operating ophthalmologists that a large number of blind individuals have regained their sight during the past year as a result of the program. The following are typical: 12-year-old Brooklyn boy, 27-year-old North Carolina housewife, 10-year-old Negro school boy in Brooklyn, 48-year-old Maryland librarian, 64-year-old woman in Washington, D. C., blind for the past 34 years.

More Than 260 Attend Cub Day At Scout Camp

Over 260 Cub Scouts, parents, and leaders attended the annual "Cub Day at Camp Tri-Mount" sponsored by the Rip Van Winkle Council; Boy Scouts of America, this past Saturday.

A total of 18 packs representing all seven districts of the council were in attendance at the event.

Highlighting the Cub Day program was a series of guided tours of the Tri-Mount Scout Reservation under the leadership of camp staff members. The tour included visits to some of the main buildings in camp, the waterfront facilities at K-B Lake and various camp craft demonstration areas. Members of the Camp Tri-Mount staff were on hand at the demonstration areas to give brief talks and explain various scoutcraft exhibits on display.

The camp athletic field was the scene, during the afternoon, of a series of Cub fun games and contests.

The visiting Cubs gathered for a short campfire program following the game period. Members of the Order of the Arrow, the camp service fraternity, staged an Indian fire lighting ceremony to open the campfire program.

A featured attraction of the Cub Day program was the traditional "Green Monster Hunt," in which all the Cubs combed the woods adjacent to the athletic field in search of hidden watermelons.

The program closed with Cub family picnic suppers in the camp picnic grove.

The Cub Day event was under the direction of Gordon Craig, Fort Ewen, commissioner of the Kingston District. Assisting were Arlington Finch, Port Ewen; Edward Safford, Kingston; Robert Tremper, Ulster Park; Kenneth Magyar, Saugerties; Addison Burch, Mt. Marion; Clement Hulich, Greenville, and Harold Bender, Greenville.

The Misses Linda Crans, Linda Dyer, Linda Huber, Monema Perkins, Cynthia Schneider, Gail Valone, and Sheila VanNostrand; also Allan Pritchett, George Slane, James Slane, and Charles VanNostrand. Scholarship assistance is acknowledged with thanks from the New Paltz and Plutarch Churches, as well as the New Paltz Woman's Society of Christian Service and Seeker's Class. The Rev. and Mrs. Willett Porter, and Mrs. Walter Roe, will also be attending from the parish as faculty members.

Announcement is made that the bus for the Methodist Men's Club sponsored Yankee baseball trip will leave the New Paltz Church Saturday 10 a. m.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AUGUST 4, 1959

FIDEL CASTRO, ON TRIAL

Up to now Fidel Castro of Cuba has done nothing to alter the view held of him by many experts as a professional revolutionary who lacks the talent for stable governing. His country is in mounting trouble.

His temporary retirement from the prime minister's post may have been useful in helping him force out President Urrutia. Beyond that it seems like an emotional grandstand play.

It was foreseen that he would quickly return, and so he has done after listening to the concerted roar of half a million Cuban campesinos urging him back.

But what does he return to?

A Cuba with sharply climbing unemployment. Severe rent slashes ordered by Castro, have discouraged new housing construction. And the general unsettlement in Havana has scared off much of the usually lush American tourist trade.

Castro's sweeping land reforms have put a heavy blight on the island's vital agricultural landowners from U. S. and others, threatened with loss of their holdings, fear to embark upon major planting programs. They don't know what tomorrow will bring.

The future prospect is even worse, for an angered Congress, hearing of land seizures, would appear unlikely to go on subsidizing Cuban agriculture by pegging the U. S. sugar purchase price at twice the world market level. Cuba sells half its crop to us.

Castro evidently thinks the cure for all this is simply to say he wants good relations with the United States and everybody else.

But they must be earned.

They cannot be, so long as he continues to blind himself to the existence of Communist elements within his camp, and so long as he cuts an emotional swath which discourages the making of sound policy and therefore frightens off foreign investment capital.

Every day that Castro stands at the head of the Cuban government, he is on trial. Thus far the ordeal has been too much for him. He has failed.

If his failures go on multiplying, if they form a pattern ultimately plain even to his devoted campesinos, then Castro will go the way of others who have preceded him.

For no people, free or otherwise, can live on a steady diet of revolution. Revolution is just a strike along the way to something better. When it becomes an end in itself, a way of life, it is self-defeating.

Castro hasn't much more time to learn that hard lesson.

Jesse Donaldson, former letter carrier who became postmaster general, is retired now at 74 walks four miles every morning. He's still agile enough to escape dog bites.

SPEED MAGNIFIES

While with a few exceptions the nation's turnpike network lies east of the Mississippi, this type of limited access roadway soon will reach across and up and down the land. All of us need to learn how to become "turnpike drivers."

There is a lot more to this than just fighting off monotony. The high speeds authorized on today's super-highways compel new techniques of driving. The recent trend toward establishing minimum speeds on these roads only underscores the problem.

Seasoned observers studying traffic on the turnpikes and similar roads find countless motorists not adapting to the different conditions.

One of the commonest mistakes is in the technique of passing another car. In city or old style country traffic, a driver usually has little choice but to pass from close behind another vehicle.

That tactic can be dangerous, even fatal, on a turnpike. At high speed, a motorist has no business being close on another's heels. If he's not moving fast but swings out to pass from a close position, he runs the risk of suddenly blocking the path of a fast driver coming up in the left-hand lane.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
NIXON'S PROSPECTS

In the United States, in the year, 1959, whatever a public figure does reflects itself in domestic politics. For nearly every public man, in his heart, is a candidate for the Presidency of the United States.

Senator Hubert Humphrey took a trip to Soviet Russia, had a long-winded conversation with Nikita Khrushchev, wrote a magazine article on the subject and became a candidate for President. It is doubtful that the prolonged interview advanced his chances.

Governor Averell Harriman landed in Soviet Russia as a reporter, working for the North American Newspaper Alliance which takes on wails and strays to do pieces here and there. Harriman's reports on Soviet Russia made interesting reading and it is said that he made other confidential reports to our government. Be that as it may, it rescued him from the oblivion which is the normal lot of defeated Governors and makes him an aspirant for the office of Secretary of State should a Democratic President be elected in 1960.

Vice President Nixon has the advantage of his post when he travels abroad. It is true that President Eisenhower sent his brother, Milton, on this trip to Russia to help Nixon who did not need his help. However, Milton Eisenhower is not likely ever to be a candidate for the Presidency, although the President once said something about Milton having the brains of the family which may be true. By the looks of it, Milton Eisenhower gained no political stature out of this trip, Nixon overshadowing him completely.

In Republican politics, Vice President Nixon has only one contender to deal with, that is, Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York. The propaganda device used against Richard Nixon is the same old gambit used against Robert A. Taft, namely, that Nixon cannot be elected. This is being repeated over and over again every day, the same as it was against Taft. It is the Hitlerian propaganda device of the big lie, as nobody can ever guess now who can be elected in November, 1960. Even the same words are used which I will paraphrase:

"Nixon is a fine man. He has made an excellent Vice President. He ought to be nominated for President. But he won't be. He can't win."

The last man who told me that was a pompous but important lawyer, a traditional and one might say, an hereditary Republican. I asked a simple question:

"How do you know?"

The creature spluttered and fumed and finally ended with the gossipy's anthem:

"Everybody says so."

This propaganda killed off Taft. I saw men vote against Taft at the Chicago Convention in 1952 with tears in their eyes, because Taft had been a colleague and friend. I recall talking to a man who in those days cut quite a figure but who now is somewhere counting his toes. He was supposed to be for Taft and was so counted by both sides, but when we had our little conversation, he was twisting his handkerchief like a girl who tries to explain to mamma why she was out after 10 o'clock for the first time.

That is the job that is being done on Nixon, but it encounters a different situation, namely, that Nixon finds ways of displaying stature. It is difficult for a Vice President. He is a captive of his office. There are many limitations on his conduct, including the necessity of avoiding embarrassment for the President. He cannot organize to campaign because it would be difficult for him to raise a campaign fund while in office. He is like a fighter who goes into the ring with one arm tied behind him. Perhaps that is one reason why so few Vice Presidents have been elected to the Presidency.

On the other hand, his only adversary, Nelson Rockefeller, also is handicapped because he is bogged down in the parochial politics of New York State and New York City and both are very bad indeed. If Rockefeller had time, he and his associates might do a decent job cleaning up the very smelly administrative situation in New York, but by 1960, too little can be accomplished to be notable, even if the greatest talents were available. More likely, the next year will produce a plethora of scandals but the cleansing process is far off.

Therefore Rockefeller is limited to the classical and expensive task of a public relations—Madison Avenue—campaign against Nixon plus politics. In the past such deals have produced victories, as, for instance, the nomination of Dwight D. Eisenhower.

★ Dr. Jordan Says: ★
Treatment of Fibroids
Depends on Each Case
BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Mrs. A. has written that a doctor has discovered that she has a fibroid tumor on her womb and has suggested an operation within the next two weeks. She asks if surgery is always necessary.

Another correspondent has asked whether it is possible for a woman having a fibroid tumor of the uterus to have a normal, healthy baby and confinement in spite of several previous miscarriages.

I shall try to answer the first question by a general discussion of fibroids. So far as the second is concerned, one or more fibroid tumors on the womb, or uterus frequently interfere with conception and sometimes lead to miscarriage. Under the particular circumstances given it seems unlikely that the woman in question can conceive and carry the baby to full term without difficulty, though it is possible. Here it may be necessary to try to operate on the womb and remove the fibroid (if it is a single one). This is sometimes done successfully and increases the chances of conception and the likelihood of avoiding miscarriage.

Fibroids of the uterus are extremely common in women over the age of 35, and it is said that about one woman in every five has a nodule or tumor of this sort after this age. These tumors are not cancerous, they are muscle and scarlike tissue.

In many cases fibroid tumors are small and do not produce symptoms or require treatment, but many are likely to grow slowly and eventually require treatment. The most common result is excessive or painful bleeding; sometimes pain or discomfort in the lower part of the abdomen is the only sign. A feeling of fullness or pressure often associated with constant fatigue is common. Fibroids can also cause bladder or rectal symptoms usually because of the pressure which they exert.

Those fibroids which are not producing symptoms usually do not need to be treated. They should be watched by the physician for symptoms and for rate of growth. If severe symptoms do develop or the tumors start growing rapidly active treatment may be necessary.

After the change of life, surgery is generally considered to be the best treatment for those fibroids which need attention. Generally when surgery is necessary the whole womb is removed with the tumor attached; occasionally the tumor alone is removed, but this is difficult and not always satisfactory. Sometimes fibroids can be treated by radium or X-rays, but this is also a complicated procedure and requires great skill and judgment to decide which tumors stand a good chance of being successfully treated in this way.

We have to remember constantly that on a turnpike the seemingly smallest error can be quickly magnified into a tremendous crash.

"I'm Not That Kind of a Mountain Fighter"

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — A flood of mail has descended on Congress, demanding passage of a tougher labor law.

The mail was inspired by Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel of the McClellan rackets investigating committee, during two TV appearances on Jack Paar and Meet the Press shows.

Kennedy called attention to the fact that all the pressure on Congress so far had come from lobbyists for the labor unions. Union newspapers are always urging congressmen to write their congressmen. Kennedy put in a plea for pressure from the other side and got it.

Many congressmen reported from 100 to 200 letters, postcards and telegrams. Chairman John L. McClellan's mail and counsel Kennedy's ran into the thousands.

THE GENERAL PUBLIC—THE GREAT MASS of voters-at-large—don't employ any paid lobbyists to represent them in Washington. For this reason some congressmen may have gained the impression that people back home aren't interested in having the labor union mess cleaned up. So they listen to the threats of union legislative lobbyists.

But if enough pressure in the other direction can be brought to bear on Congress in the next week or two, it could have material effect in shaping the labor legislation that emerges from this session of Congress.

It is generally admitted that the Labor Committee bill introduced in the House is far weaker than the Senate-passed bill. Chairman McClellan says the House bill would be better than no bill at all, though he doesn't like it.

BUT THE BIPARTISAN SUBSTITUTE measure introduced by Reps. Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga) and Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich.) would toughen it up considerably.

It would restore and strengthen Senator McClellan's "Bill of Rights" for the protection of union members.

It would require all unions to make reports, removing the exemption on 70 per cent of the smaller locals.

It would amend the Taft-Hartley law so as to deal with the problems of unions in the "no man's land" between National Labor Relations Board and state jurisdiction.

It would prevent "blackmail picketing" of plant by a labor organization for one year after it has lost an election to represent that plant's employees.

It would regulate "organizational picketing" by outsiders trying to form a union in a plant before that union has been elected by the employees to represent them.

It would ban "secondary boycotts" of plants furnishing supplies or services to a primary employer whose plant is being struck by a union.

It would designate as an unfair labor practice a contract between a union and a common carrier, restricting the carrier from delivering "hot cargo" to a struck plant.

THESE PROVISIONS ARE OPPOSED by labor lobbyists as being "antiunion" or "union busting."

But the first two of them are in line with recommendations of the American Civil Liberties Union to protect the democratic rights of union members in their organizations.

And the last five provisions, closing loopholes in the existing Taft-Hartley law, are in line with Eisenhower administration proposals and the conditions which Senator McClellan describes as "minimum legislation."

If the House of Representatives—through a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats which has worked effectively before—could pass a bill which would include some of these provisions, Senator McClellan believes the Senate would reverse itself and accept them.

Incidentally—with the exception of one press conference statement by the President in support of legislation to correct conditions disclosed by the Senate rackets committee—Senator McClellan says his program has received no support whatever from the White House.

IN THE Service

Cadet John F. Hickey, St. Bernardine of Siena College, son of Mrs. Catherine E. Hickey, RD 3, Kingston, left for home today after completing six weeks of intensive field training at the 1959 ROTC Camp, U. S. Army Artillery and Missile Center, Fort Sill, Okla.

While at camp he completed training on the M-1 rifle and fired for record. He participated in extensive field maneuvers in which he performed the various duty assignments of junior officer in a field artillery unit. He actually loaded and fired the famous 105 mm howitzer. He observed and adjusted artillery fire on simulated enemy targets.

He had an opportunity to observe the firing of the "Honest John" rocket, and other artillery weapons.

Completes Training

Cadet William D. Johnston, 21, son of Mrs. Louise D. Bell, Watson Avenue, Milton, completed six weeks of signal training July 31 at the Reserve Officer Training Corps summer camp at Fort Gordon, Ga.

Cadet Johnston is a student at Clarkson College, Potsdam, and a member of Sigma Delta, Alpha Kappa Psi and Phi Delta Upsilon fraternities.

Invitation to Khrushchev Viewed as Futile Gesture

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4.—President Eisenhower certainly deserves an "A" for effort in trying to "maintain world peace"—but his decision to invite Soviet Premier Khrushchev to visit the United States will probably prove, through no fault of the President, as futile a gesture as was the "summit" conference of 1955 at Geneva.

Memories are short, but only four years have passed since Mr. Eisenhower fraternized with the top leaders of the Kremlin, including Nikita Khrushchev, amid worldwide acclaim and enthusiastic comments in the West that this was the way to bring about a "easing of tensions" and a solution of the current controversies of the "cold war."

Every Pledge Broken

But every pledge made at Geneva has since been broken by the Soviet government. It became necessary afterward for the United States actually to take a military posture in the Far East to prevent a Soviet-inspired invasion of Formosa by Red China's forces. Also, the United States had to land Marines in Lebanon and take other measures to forestall a Soviet conquest of the Middle East.

Not only has the solemn promise, made at the 1955 "summit" meeting at Geneva, to assure the reunification of Germany been broken, but within the last few months the Moscow government has issued an ultimatum to the Western powers to withdraw their forces from West Berlin or face the threat of war.

For several weeks now it has been the American position that there must be some "give" on the part of the Soviets before there could be a "summit" conference. The Moscow government has refused to give an inch. Consequently, the conference of the four foreign ministers has been deadlocked and is ending in failure.

Two-Man "Summit"

The President has said there would be no "summit" conference until developments at Geneva "justified it." Nikita Khrushchev insisted that the foreign ministers couldn't settle anything, and that the "summit" was the place to do it. He hasn't yet had his way entirely, on that point, but he will have a chance in a two-man "summit" meeting to indicate whether the Soviets mean to withdraw their ultimatum on West Berlin.

Meanwhile, the President will go to London and Paris later this month to canvass the views of Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain and President de Gaulle of France. Presumably, Mr. Eisenhower will reflect the views of the Western allies when he meets Khrushchev, though the President will, as he says, not be their authorized spokesman in a formal sense. Then, after Premier Khrushchev has visited America, Mr. Eisenhower will pay a return visit to the Soviet Union.

Two points of view prevail today about the exchange of visits between the Soviet dictator and the American President. One is that tension will be eased and the "cold war" will thaw out a bit. The other view is that Khrushchev will tighten his hold on the Soviet people and will tell them that America now accepts the leader of communism as equals. With a controlled press, this will mean misleading propaganda inside the Soviet Union and within the countries occupied by Soviet troops. The impression will be cultivated that the United States no longer is hostile to communism and that all dissenters in Eastern Europe had better give up their battle.

Time Will Tell

Time alone will tell which view of the Khrushchev trip will turn out to be the correct appraisal. But the Soviets thus far have given not the slightest indication of any concessions or changes, nor have they exhibited any evidence that they will not break agreements again.

The President himself is under no illusions. He knows that Khrushchev is bent on world conquest. But Mr. Eisenhower is betting on the inevitable restraints that peoples themselves can exercise when their leaders go too far. He is hoping his own visit to the Soviet Union will furnish another opportunity, like that accorded Vice President Nixon, to convey certain truths to the Soviet citizens.

It's a gamble, and heretofore the comment is often heard that the advantages of a visit by Khrushchev outweigh the disadvantages, and that no harm can be done by trying to "educate" him.

This, however, ignores the effect on the peoples of the "captive nations" of Eastern Europe who yearn for freedom and who have hoped in vain that the leadership of the West will do nothing to enhance the prestige of their oppressors. It is not a happy augury for the peoples inside East Germany and Hungary and Poland, where the fighters for freedom took a chance just a few years ago and made a heroic effort to secure their liberty.

Sees Game Exposed

But within a few months the Soviet game will have been exposed. The Soviet Premier will have been to America and will have discovered that Americans are not afraid to make sacrifices when challenged on a basic principle of human liberty. If he miscalculates in the future, as he has in the past, there certainly will be less demand for "summit" conferences thereafter for a long, long time, and there may even be pressure for the cutting down of trade and further exchanges with the Soviet Union.

Hitler misconstrued Chamberlain's mission to Munich in 1938 as a sign of weakness. It is to be hoped that Khrushchev will not thus misconstrue Mr. Eisenhower's concessions currently being made in a spirit of goodwill and accommodation. For it must be admitted that the Soviet leader now has been given his way. He goes to a "summit" meeting with the President of the United States without having acceded to the Western demand that he withdraw his ultimatum on Berlin.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

From time to time I mention the old-fashioned foods, like smoked hams from the late Thompson's smokehouse on Hunter Street. I notice many readers also remember the days before food tasted so artificial. Harry L. Edson, an old timer, taught me the art of making "Organic Gardening and Farming." They seem to be in favor of the old fashioned or natural farming.

Here is an item on cheese: "The making of cheese has been mechanized and 'modernized' to the point where it is hard to find cheese that doesn't contain mold inhibitors, preservatives, artificial colorings, flavoring and other chemicals. Among the only natural and pure cheese that is sold is imported Swiss cheese." He mentions a cheese made in Tillamook County Creamery, Oregon, which is prepared from raw milk and no chemicals added. "The Tillamook people say it is perfectly safe to eat cheese made from raw milk as long as it is stored at least 60 days at a temperature above 35 degrees. They have a refrigerated warehouse with a capacity of 8 million pounds of cheese."

Another item tells about out-of-season cantaloupes grown in Mexico which seem sweeter and better tasting than our Georgia brand. The Georgia Agriculture Commission explained that melons grown in the Southeast United States are "pushed" with high applications of fertilizers. Mexican melons are allowed to mature slowly—and consequently pick up more flavor.

I am all in favor of our own home-grown tomatoes, carrots from good old-fashioned gardeners but it seems that even many of the road stands now carry the cello-wrap imported from other states. Anyone having a strip of sunny ground as big as a top of a bridge table can grow 6 or 10 tomato plants. They are sold at many grocery stores and stand for 5 cents a plant and if they are planted at the end of May when the frost is completely gone and just watered, nature will take care of the rest. Then you will have vine-ripened Ulster County delicious tomatoes. If the bugs come, dust them with plain flour, one of my neighbors told me and it works wonders. You too can be an organic farmer. Sun-flowers also love Ulster

County sunshine and will grow 10 feet or more during the summer. They may be strictly for the birds around here and will bring some interesting birds to your garden.

According to this magazine Russia is producing most of the sunflower seed grown in the world. It is especially valuable for high content of unsaturated fats. As one rides around the countryside one sees here and there tremendous sunflowers, some grown wild and some planted. A stalk can hold two dozen flowers, as I had one myself and my neighbor, Mrs. Dominick LaTorre, one year had such a tremendous stalk with flowers that it was displayed on North Front Street in front of Minasian's Super Market. I am sure our Ulster County soil can grow larger, handsomer sunflowers than Russia.

State Medical Group Is Neutral In Salk Shot Ban

NEW YORK (AP) — The State Medical Society has taken no position for or against the mass distribution of anti-polio shots at public clinics, the society's executive director said today.

Dr. Herbert Wagner made the comment in reference to the cancellation of a scheduled polio clinic at Hunter, N. Y., last Wednesday, because of opposition by the Greene County Medical Society.

More than 200 persons at Hunter and nearby Tannersville had signed up for the inoculations under the plan arranged by the public health committees of the two communities.

However it was dropped and the vaccine supplies returned, after a reminder from the Greene County society that it had adopted resolutions favoring individual vaccinations in physicians' offices.

Dr. Wagner said numerous local societies have taken a position opposing the mass vaccinations, but that the state society and American Medical Assn. have taken no stand on the matter.

"It's a matter to be decided by the physicians in each county, working with other responsible groups in determining the community needs," Dr. Wagner said.

Dr. Wagner said that in the early years of the Salk anti-polio vaccine, New York State had distributed large amounts free at public clinics, probably a larger proportion than any other state.

The State Health Department has been pressing a campaign to get more adults to obtain the vaccine.

A department spokesman said he knew of no other case in which such a clinic had been canceled because of opposition by a local medical society.

NEW YORK (AP)—Oils held their ground while aircrafts sold off rather sharply as the stock market underwent a moderate decline early this afternoon.

The drop in aircrafts, and also of some electronics, was ascribed by brokers to belated recognition of the chance that the exchange of visits between President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Khrushchev may ease cold war tensions.

The immediate news Monday had no recognizable impact on the market for prominent publication since then has evidently had its effect on defense issues.

The rest of the market backed away gently from the level of its latest historic highs. Steels were narrowly mixed and motors little changed except for Chrysler which dropped a fraction.

Douglas Aircraft and Martin Co. slipped well over a point apiece. United Aircraft and General Dynamics were down about a point each.

Radio Corp. was traded heavily and down a point or more. Texas Instruments was down well over a point.

Polaroid raced ahead more than 4 Clevite jumped more than a point.

Caterpillar rose more than a point.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was down 50 cents to $235.30 with the industrials down $1.10, the rails down 10 cents and the utilities down 10 cents.

Khrushchev

there has been no announcement whether Mrs. Eisenhower will accompany her husband to Europe.

The Khrushchev announcement overshadowed Eisenhower's plans for an earlier series of meetings with British, French, and West German heads of government. These could bear importantly on his talks with Khrushchev.

Most Work Out Details

U. S. officials said details of the newly announced travels must be worked out. But they spoke in terms of Eisenhower's attending a Western Big Three summit meeting in Paris, plus talking separately with the British and French chiefs and with Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Eisenhower was expected to go to Paris in the latter part of August. Khrushchev is due here in September, perhaps around mid-month. No date has been fixed for Eisenhower's own later visit to the Soviet Union.

From the standpoint of diplomatic troubleshooting, Eisenhower's trip to Western Europe shaped up as a picnic compared with the tough task of dealing with the Russians on East-West issues. Eisenhower will be returning to the area where he served many years as an international military commander. The Allies, despite some differences, see eye to eye on most problems.

Exchange Visits

about France's destiny have caused concern in the Western camp.

De Gaulle has demanded a voice for France in the use of atomic weapons, has withdrawn the French Mediterranean Fleet from NATO combat command, and has embarked on a controversial campaign to quell the Algerian insurrection.

Eisenhower has met with De Gaulle since he took office. Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and Adenauer both have been to Washington this year. But the nationalistic Frenchman has brushed aside invitations to visit.

The European journey gives Eisenhower a chance to talk with De Gaulle without obviously going out of his way to do so.

Washington authorities waded into the many details that remain to be ironed out on the Khrushchev visit.

The broad agreement for the exchange was handled in such secrecy and on such a high level that most State Department officials below the rank of undersecretary seemed unaware of it until Monday's announcement.

U. N. diplomats expect Khrushchev will address the General Assembly in New York. He could do that without an invitation, as a member of the Soviet delegation.

Farm Fish Ponds Demonstrated at Recent Meeting

NEW PALTZ—A large group of farmers and land owners met at one of the three ponds on the Jenkins-Luken farm last week when a farm fish pond management meeting was held sponsored by the Ulster County Extension Service Agricultural Department, the New York State Conservation Department and the Extension Conservation Department of Cornell.

The meeting was opened by William Palmer, county extension agent, who told of the purpose of the meeting and briefly sketched the work of his department in this project and then introduced Mr. Raymond Jenkins and Jack Lueken, owners of the property. Douglas Sarr, Soil Conservation Service Technician, Dr. Harlan Brumstead, Cornell University, John Gould and Warren McKee of the Conservation Department.

Dr. Brumstead directed the netting of the pond to sample what fish life might be there and it was found that the only fish taken in the gill net was a type of minnow that led to the recommendation that bigmouth bass and blue gills be introduced to that pond. He followed with the netting operation with an illustrated talk on farm fish ponds and proper methods of stocking.

Sarr devoted his talk to the building of the ponds, dams, and the handling of run-offs and overflows. He praised the ponds on the Jenkins-Luken farm as being models of their kind.

Gould told of steps and procedures to be followed in the creation of farm fishponds, the legal aspects of such work.

A number of leaflets were distributed to those attending, and a question and answer period closed the meeting.

Steel Strike At-A-Glance

NEGOTIATIONS—Industry and union leaders met jointly in New York Monday under the guidance of federal mediators, but there were no reports of progress. Joint talks slated to continue Tuesday.

LOSSES—Industry loses some 300 million dollars worth of business each week; strikers lose nearly 70 million dollars a week in wages.

Three Children Die As Playhouse Burns

NAMPA, Idaho (AP) — Fire swept through a wooden playhouse here Monday and killed three small children before a neighbor could rescue them. The victims were Mary, 4, Mark, 5 and Kathy Bryant, 6 children of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bryant.

"I kicked in the front door, but it was too late," said Willard Bradbury, a fireman who lives next door and discovered the fire. The four-foot high playhouse was located in a corner of the family's yard. There was no immediate explanation of how the fire began. The children's parents were at work, and a babysitter was tending three other Bryant children in the house.

Symington (D-Mo) calls on the White House to stop issuing statements and says the President should use his power and office to get a reasonable and prompt settlement.

IBM Plant Displays Interceptor Missile

A United States Air Force IM-99 Bomarc surface-to-air interceptor missile has been obtained for display at IBM Kingston it was announced today by Richard J. Whalen, general manager of the local plant.

Manufactured by the Boeing Airplane Company, the Bomarc has a wing span of 18 feet, a length of 47 feet and a diameter of 35 inches. It weighs 15,000 pounds.

The public is cordially invited to view the missile which will be on display from 7:00 to 10:00 p. m. today and Tuesday in the parking lot at the south of the main plant administration building.

Technicians of the Orientation Group, USAF, will accompany the exhibit and will be available to answer spectators' questions.

Bomarc employs the latest electronic guidance systems, including the terminal guidance system in the missile itself. It is controlled remotely while in flight by a SAGE (Semi-Automatic Ground Environment) computer. The Bomarc is tied in with America's vast and complex air defense system, which provides warning of an enemy attack in seconds. This versatile, integrated system can detect, track, intercept and kill both subsonic and supersonic targets.

In a series of engineering tests conducted and completed in the fall of 1958, Bomarc missiles were fired and guided by a computer at the IBM Kingston plant. The missiles were launched from Cape Canaveral, Florida, 1500 miles away and successfully intercepted both single and multiple drone targets. These tests proved the compatibility of the SAGE computer with the BOMARC missile. In actual air defense operation, Bomarc missiles would be fired and controlled by SAGE computers located at military installations throughout the country. The IBM Kingston plant is responsible for the design, manufacture, installation and maintenance of the SAGE computers for the U. S. Air Force.

Police Quiz Pair On Man's Death

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — Police questioned a father and son today about the disappearance of a man who shared their boarding house. Police believe a naked body they found is the missing man.

The decomposed body was found Monday half-buried in a gravel bank 11 miles south of Ithaca.

Albert J. King, 61, and his son, Donald, 29, were held in the Tompkins County Jail. Although the elder King was held on a charge of second-degree arson and the younger on a charge of violation of parole, sheriff's deputies said they were questioning them about the missing man.

Sheriff Howard A. Harvey of Tompkins County said he believed the body was that of Melvin Knapp, 35, a bakery employee who lived in the same rooming house in Ithaca as the Kings. He disappeared July 8.

A pathologist was to determine the identity and the cause of death.

Deputies did not go to the gravel bank and discover the body until after they had questioned the younger King. He had been arrested earlier in the day in Rochester on a charge of violating parole in Seneca County. He had been convicted of rape.

Harvey would not say if information received from King led them to the gravel pit.

The elder King was held on a charge of second-degree arson in connection with a fire in a bar in 1957.

$2,606,233 Will Be Spent on N. Y. Airports in Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency has allotted $2,606,233 for airport construction projects in New York State for this fiscal year and an equal sum for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1961.

The agency said Monday it would accept aid requests for such projects until Sept. 1.

Project sponsors may submit applications either for the current fiscal year, for the next one, or for both years.

E. R. Quesada, FAA administrator, said the aid programs for the two years would stress projects required for increased air safety.

Of the total 63 million dollars authorized for each of the two years, 75 per cent is apportioned for projects in each state on a formula based on area and population. The remaining 25 per cent is discretionary and may be allocated without regard to state boundaries.

New York's share is the third highest. Texas gets the biggest slice—$3,093,777. California is second with $2,734,099.

State Can Give Back Money Spent on Tips

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Tips are not gifts, the state attorney general says, and therefore the state can reimburse its employees for tips they pay while traveling on official business.

State employees have had to take the tips out of their own pockets because it was felt that the State Constitution barred reimbursement. The Constitution says the state shall not make monetary gifts.

The state's top legal officer, Louis J. Lefkowitz, advised Comptroller Arthur Levitt Monday that tips were not gifts and that workers could be reimbursed for "reasonable" tips.

Lefkowitz said the amounts would be subject to Levitt's review as to reasonableness. Lefkowitz pointed out that the federal government considered tips as compensation in computing income tax, unemployment insurance, workmen's compensation and social security.

Pays for Postage

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The State Tax Department has received a letter and 25 cents from someone who said he was a department employee about 1½ years ago.

"I mailed a personal letter through the office postage meter," said the unsigned note. "Here's a quarter to pay for the postage."

The money went into the state's general fund.

The letter was postmarked Albany.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—In the coming season ABC-TV will continue the type of filmed action television programming that brought it increased audiences and dollars last season.

"The mass culture of this country is escape," says Thomas W. Moore, vice president in charge of programming for the network, in describing ABC-TV's plans.

"Action — adventure is at the moment the most effective entertainment in our medium. It will continue as long as we can't come up with something more appealing."

"The coming season will see a continuation of our programming philosophy of the past few years. The emphasis will be on action and adventure. We would have liked to add new situation comedies."

Nearly all of the network's programs in prime evening viewing time will be on film.

ABC-TV will have very few specials, compared to the other networks. Walt Disney plans three on man in relation to space, and three others will feature Bing Crosby, Pat Boone and Frank Sinatra.

"We believe specials should be just that," says Moore. "A program by Crosby or Sinatra certainly constitutes a special. But it seems kind of silly to program specials just for the sake of calling them specials."

In 50 half-hour periods during prime evening viewing time, the network has scheduled 13 Westerns, 17 adventure and detection, seven varieties, and five situation comedies.

On Sunday nights the ABC-TV screen will bristle with action. "Maverick" at 7:30 is followed by "Lawman" and then a new Western, "The Rebel," which Moore describes as "the adventures of a Reconstruction beatnik." Then comes a new hour adventure series, "The Alaskans."

The situation comedies returning to the network are the Gale Storm show, the Donna Reed show, "Ozzie and Harriet," "The Real McCoys," and "Leave It to Beaver."

Americans in Finland

NEW YORK (AP) — Two American playwrights are among top boxoffice draws in Finland, according to a study by the International Theatre Institute. Tallying production activity 1948-1958, the organization listed the five most popular foreign dramatists in that country as Shakespeare, John Patrick who wrote "Teahouse of the August Moon," Jean Anouilh, Tennessee Williams and Jean Paul Sartre.

Soviets Building Missile Sites

Allies Could Muster 250,000 Forces Next to Iron Curtain

Editor's Note—As the North Atlantic Treaty Organization enters its second decade, just how much of a bulwark is it? Here is the first of four on-the-spot reports.

By BEM PRICE

PARIS (AP)—For 10 years now the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has been looked upon as the sword and shield of Europe.

NATO's defensive shield consists of ground troops with the task of stemming any Soviet attempt to overrun Europe quickly. The sword is the retaliatory striking power of the West—nuclear or thermonuclear bombs delivered against the Soviet Union by manned aircraft or missiles.

Need Emphasized

U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad, NATO's present military chief, once emphasized Europe's need for a strong defensive shield by observing that unless an aggression was soon halted, the Allies would be faced with the impossible task of separating the invaders from the invaded as targets for nuclear weapons.

At the moment, the shield appears thin and the sword, while still sharp, is losing some of its edge compared with the powerful and increasingly modern Communist forces arrayed against it.

A reporter's tour of NATO commands indicates that as matters now stand the Allies possibly could muster 250,000 men on the ground next to the Iron Curtain though not all would be mobile forces equipped with up-to-date arms.

The immediately available air cover for central Europe now consists of somewhere between 1,500 and 2,000 net aircraft of all types.

The Allies also have a classified but apparently limited, missile counter-punch, mostly in the short range category.

Confronts Bloc

This Allied force confronts a Soviet bloc in central Europe which Western sources say has 1½ million men close to the borders of the free world and a 23,000-all-jet air force, most of which is concentrated in the western Soviet Union and the satellites.

In addition, the Soviets are said to be building large numbers of missile launching sites for their 700-mile range M103 missiles and their 1,500-mile T2 intermediate range missiles in the satellite areas west of the U.S.S.R.

Although written into existence April 4, 1949, as a military organization NATO really began Jan. 7, 1951, with the arrival of Dwight D. Eisenhower, then a five-star general, to assume command of Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers, Europe (SHAPE). The organization's assignment: to safeguard the freedom, common heritage and civilization of the signatory nations.

Skinny Divisions

Upon his first inspection tour Eisenhower found only seven skinny divisions and an air force of about 400 planes, mostly piston-engine types.

Meanwhile, the technology of warfare was undergoing a steady evolution. The age of the guided missile and the battle-field rocket had arrived. Each can carry atomic warheads.

In the dawning age of atom-toting missiles and rockets, the need for armies to increase their mobility and dispersion likewise increased. The day of the foot soldier, fighting in mass, was ending.

The passing years, however, have seen some technical and logistical improvements in the military picture.

When NATO was born the aircraft detection radar operated 40 hours a week. Now the radar network scans the Iron Curtain around the clock. It still has a short range, reaching only to the Soviet border. But gaps in the network have been plugged.

Immediate Contact

Once it took SHAPE commanders eight hours to reach a subordinate command. Now a radio and telephone system provides immediate contact.

A spiderweb of supply dumps containing a 90-day stockpile of combat needs has come into being. About 2,000 miles of a projected 3,600 mile gas and oil pipeline now exists.

All these developments, however urgently needed, do not in themselves defend central Europe, which is the heart of NATO.

There usually is no rain from April to the end of October in Israel.

Wallflowers Given Advice by Successful Editor and Musician

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Girls who yearn to be popular, always in demand and the life of the party might heed the advice of Betty Benson, women's editor of The Boise, Idaho, Statesman.

"Learn to tell fortunes," says Betty. "If you add a smattering of astrology and handwriting analysis, so much the better. You'll never have a dull moment."

Betty subscribed to a course in fortune-telling and palmistry a few years ago, got interested in the whole psychic subject and added astrology. Now she's the center of attention at every party, never at a loss for dinner invitations, and besieged on all sides by friends who look on her as an oracle.

"I wish I'd discovered this when I was a teen-ager," says Betty, who now has a teen-age daughter of her own. "I could have had a lot more fun than I did because then I used to suffer from shyness. But a girl who can read palms and all that always has more dates than she can manage."

A different suggestion comes from attractive Marianne Probst, of Augsburg, Germany, who recently was named the world's champion accordion player.

"No girl who can play the accordion is ever a wallflower," says Marianne. "It's a wonderful way to make friends and also, if you take it seriously, to see the world."

Marianne won her championship title during the recent World Accordion Competition, held for the first time in New York.

This summer Marianne is visiting friends in Michigan, taking her accordion along.

No doubt Michigan picnics, hayrides and square dances will be much livelier this summer, and there certainly will be no dull moments for Marianne and her accordion.

Fall Jewelry

Ever and all her sisters will have two fashion faces this fall, judging by the showings recently unveiled to the fashion experts. She will be discreet, understated and ladylike, or glamorous, seductive and elegant. These two trends run through all fashions this fall and are reflected at their most glittering best in the new jewelry.

The Fashion Coordination Institute defines the twin trends as "classic" and "treasure chest." In the first is found the fresh, new, tailored jewelry in gold or silver, worked in delicate new designs and interesting new treatments and textures, to lend a charming touch of color and classic feeling to the new daytime clothes. The classic touch is also seen in stone-set jewelry and in pearls for fall.

The treasure chest look is one of opulence, the Institute reports, and is reflected in necklaces, pins and earrings designed to use the elegant, simple, new clothes as background for some special effects.

New Trends Noted

Spot trends to watch for in fall jewelry are seen in new necklaces. A longer length has made its appearance, measuring from 22 to 27 inches, to accent the shirtwaist feeling in new clothes and fill in low necklines on tailored classics.

Pins of all sizes, shapes and designs have a big important role in the fall fashion picture, according to the Institute. Worn in parts on the body of a suit with one spotted just under the lapel, they are a smart suit note.

Pins also appear on crushed gloves and on tailored hats.

Elaine Malbin Sings Story of Woe About Lack of Suitable Male Interest

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (A)—"Young men today are impossible," said Elaine Malbin, the tiny spitfire of opera.

Miss Malbin has a problem. She is young and pretty and as vibrantly alive as a violin string. She has smoldering eyes the color of autumn leaves.

She has one of the best lyric soprano voices in the land. She makes up to $75,000 a year.

But she has a problem. It is the same problem faced by millions of other career women her age—finding the right guy.

The public never thinks the feminine stars of the entertainment world have many dating woes. But they do. They have plenty.

The very gifts that make them famous turn out in a way to be a reverse curse. They scare away many men.

"That's part of my trouble," said Elaine ruefully.

"Of course, it's partly my fault too. I'm afraid I can't be attracted to just an ordinary guy. I hesitate to date a man who isn't interesting. And to me the interesting men are those I feel are above me mentally, or who have achieved more."

She finds the current crop of American young men pretty dull company—even "impossible."

"Young men are too glib," she said. "They are glib about things they know nothing about—such as work. I have worked too long and too hard myself to care for glibness. I like older men because they appreciate you more, but the best ones are already taken."

Why not fall in love with someone in her own field? Miss Malbin shook her midnight mane vehemently.

"I don't find American male opera stars very sexy," she said flatly.

"I prefer businessmen and writers."

Brooklyn-born Miss Malbin started singing at 11, made her debut here at the age of 14. She wears sometimes of the exacting discipline of opera, particularly since it is financially far less rewarding than television or the supper club circuit. She still practices three hours every day.

"But the hardest thing to me is that I have to live in accord with the demands of my vocal art," she said.

THE WINNER'S PRIZE

Dear Mrs. Post: I have attended quite a few showers lately and have noticed that the guest of honor took part in games that were played, which is all right, but is it correct for her to accept a prize if she wins? Shouldn't she refuse it and let the runner up or the person who tied with her, have it, as she received many presents already? I think it is a very selfish act. What is your opinion?

Answer: I am sorry, but I do not agree with you and think that whoever wins a game, even if she has received other presents, should keep the prize.

Gift for Bridegroom-to-Be

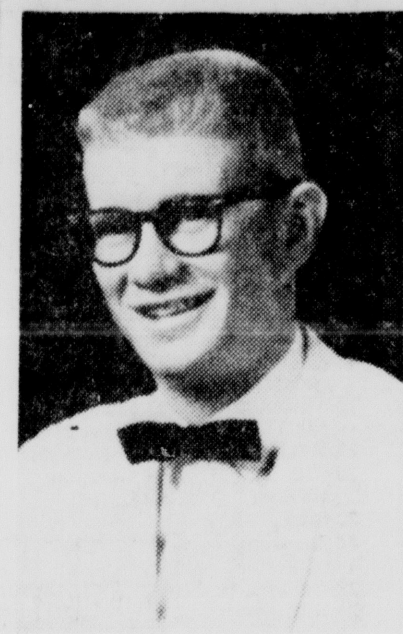

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband is planning to give a bachelor party for my brother who is soon to be married. It is to be held at his club and of course he will pay all the expenses of the dinner. However, he would like to present the bridegroom with a present at this time and thought of asking the men invited to the dinner to contribute 10 dollars toward the present. Would this be in order, and do you think 10 dollars too much to ask?

Answer: If your husband asks the guests to contribute toward the present, it becomes a joint present from all of them and they should decide together how much to contribute and what the present will be.

An Appreciative Patient

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it permissible to present one's physician or physicians with a gift? One doctor preformed the operation and one assisted. After the operation I was in the care of the latter. If it is permissible, how should it be delivered—in person or sent by the store where the gift will be bought. Is a note of appreciation necessary?

or just a name card enclosed? I would appreciate your answers to these questions.

Answer: A gift is certainly not necessary, but if you wish to send one you certainly may do so. Write on your visiting card, "With many thanks" and have the store enclose it with the gift which should be sent by them.

Miss Patricia Louise Will, John Beaver Are Married at New Paltz Reformed Church

NEW PALTZ—The marriage of Miss Patricia Louise Will, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Roland G. Will of New Paltz, to John Rudolph Beaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Beaver of Waltham, Mass., was solemnized at 3 p. m. July 25 in the Dutch Reformed Church here. The Rev. Gerret Wulschlager performed the ceremony which was followed by a reception in the gardens at Lake Mohonk.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of French silk, brocade combined with silk organza, and a finger-tip veil of organza. The full paneled skirt had a slight train and fitted waist. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

Central Hudson's Report Indicates Recession's Over

Further evidence that the Mid-Hudson Valley clearly is experiencing "a healthy recovery from the effects of last year's general economic recession" is cited by Ernest R. Acker, president of Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, in the company's current quarterly report to common stockholders.

Substantial increases in use of both electricity and natural gas for local industrial and commercial operations reflect the business upswing. Acker tells the 18,225 owners of Central Hudson common stock in the report, which was mailed Saturday.

The company's confidence that prosperity will broaden and accelerate throughout the valley in coming months also is attested by Acker's announcement that a $600,000 high-voltage transmission line is nearing completion between Danskammer Point Steam Station and Poughkeepsie. The new line not only will "help supply the increasing power requirements of the Poughkeepsie area," but also "will become an additional transmission reserve to take the output of the new 138,000-kilowatt electric generating unit at Danskammer Point when it goes into operation in September."

Still another boost to the varied economy of the area is noted by Acker:

"Reports from the Catskill Mountains vacationland, an important element in the economy of Ulster and Greene Counties, indicate that record numbers of vacationists are visiting this scenic area during the 1959 summer season. To meet the requirements of the increasing number of tourists, many resorts are improving and expanding their accommodations, and new motels, summer cottages and other vacation facilities are under construction."

"In addition, the Hudson-Champlain 350th Anniversary Celebration is in full swing and is an added attraction in the many Mid-Hudson Valley communities which are paying colorful tribute to the pioneer voyage of Henry Hudson along the great waterway that bears his name."

Based on the 3,366,152 shares of common stock outstanding, the company's earnings per share were 37.4 cent for the second quarter of this year and $1.343 for the 12 months ended June 30, 1959. Comparable figures for the previous year were 35.9 cents in the second quarter and $1.315 in the 12-month period ended June 30, 1958, when outstanding shares totaled 3,008,077.

Army Says He's Dead, Suggests Much Alive

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—William H. Suggs' wife received two letters from the U.S. Army Monday.

One offered condolences and one suggested she start processing insurance claims on the death of her husband, a retired Army sergeant.

"I couldn't help feeling funny," the 33-year-old Suggs said. "It was like reading my own death warrant. It said I was officially dead—but I'm not."

"My wife panicked even though I had only left for work three hours before. I had to come home and convince her I was alive," Suggs, a janitor, retired from the Army in 1958 with a 100 per cent medical disability.

"The letters all gave my right name, my rank and my serial number," he said. "It was all right—all except for that one thing."

Making the Best of a Bad Job

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Charles Baron of Long Beach looked over the dummy and did not like what he saw. He rather wished that he had not opened one no-trump with a worthless doubleton.

He decidedly wished that his partner would have contented himself with a small slam. Then he proceeded to make the best of a bad job.

His queen of spades won the first trick over East's jack and he led a low heart and put in dummy's ten. When it held, everything looked rosy. But things looked bad once more when East showed out on the second heart.

However, perfect timing enabled Mr. Baron to make his grand slam by means of a double squeeze. He started proceedings by cashing dummy's ace of spades, four club tricks and his own spade king. He discarded one diamond and two hearts from dummy.

The play of the spade king forced West down to two diamonds since he had to hang on to the queen-jack of hearts. Now Mr. Baron entered dummy with

Would Let Officers Talk on Grievances

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Law officers should be provided grievance procedures, State Sen. Thomas J. Mackell (D-Queens) says.

Mackell, a former New York policeman for 10 years spoke Monday night to 750 delegates to the 34th annual convention of the Police Conference of New York State.

He said policemen were without the right to bargain with their municipal employers for wage increases.

"It is all the more important that they have the right to formal presentation of their grievances before an impartial body," he said.

He said the public should be made aware of the problems confronting police and their families.

The senator was awarded a special citation by the convention for his legislative efforts in behalf of the police.

Blueberry Roly Poly Makes Surprise Breakfast Bread

FOR A surprise breakfast bread, try this Blueberry Roly Poly using a Pennsylvania Dutch recipe. Sure to brighten meals.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Looking for a surprise breakfast bread? Well, now is the season for fresh cultivated blueberries. So let's use a recipe from the Pennsylvania Dutch, and berries from Michigan and New Jersey.

Blueberry Roly Poly

One cup fresh cultivated blueberries, 2½ teaspoons baking powder, 2 cups flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons butter or shortening, 2 eggs, ½ cup milk, ¼ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons sugar, fresh lemon juice.

Wash and drain blueberries. Place in bowl and sprinkle with few drops lemon juice and 2 tablespoons sugar. Set aside.

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add shortening, mixing in well with fork. Beat egg slightly in measuring cup and add milk to make ¾ cup. Add liquor to flour, mixing well. Roll out on floured board into oblong piece about ½-inch thick. Sprinkle dough with fresh blueberries, pressing berries gently into dough. Roll up to make a long thin roll (dough will triple in volume during baking). Place in a greased shallow pan and bake for 45 minutes at 375 degrees F.

Pennsylvania Dutch Upside Down Cake

One-half cup shortening, 1 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1½ cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, pinch salt, ¾ cup milk, 2 cups fresh blueberries, sweetened with ½ cup sugar.

Cream shortening well and add sugar slowly. Add unbeaten egg and vanilla; beat until well blended. Add the sifted dry ingredients alternately with the milk; mix well. Mix berries and sugar and put in a well-greased square loaf pan; pour in batter. Bake in moderate oven at 350 degrees F. about 45 minutes. Serve with whipped cream.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Ham steak, creamed mustard gravy, whipped potatoes, succotash, rye bread, butter or margarine, new cabbage slaw, Pennsylvania Dutch upside down cake with vanilla ice cream, coffee, tea, milk.

YOUR POCKETBOOK

To Understand Inflation, We Should Know Its Origin

BY FAYE HENLE

If you want to understand one of today's biggest page one stories, you've got to understand its origin. The story I'm talking about is inflation with its varied headlines detailing the latest on national debt, on government and consumer spending and borrowing, on wages and prices and productivity.

Today's inflation started just about 20 years ago as the first guns of World War II sounded. Between 1939 and 1946, historically speaking, our government was spending at a fantastic rate. It was necessary spending and we would not have wanted it otherwise.

Then, as now, the government financed its spending in part by issuing savings bonds which you and I and the banks bought, and in part by borrowing. First these newly issued dollars flowed through our banking system. By 1946 they were in our hands. Prices were controlled and there was little around in the way of consumer goods to tempt us.

When World War II ended, so did price and wage controls. Output of consumer goods soared and so did take-home pay. Average weekly earnings in manufacturing industries stood at $25 plus in 1940, just about doubled by 1947, rose to just over $88 by the end of 1958.

As you well know, we went on spending sprees. But the government spent continuously and at an increased pace, ending few fiscal years without a deficit. Unlike the government, we added to our liquid assets.

In 1940 we had 48.3 billion dollars either in the bank or salted away under the mattress. By 1947, this figure rose to 129.8 billion. In 1957 it reached 166 billion and by last year 176.3 billion.

In 1940 we owned but 2.7 billion of U. S. Savings Bonds, increased this amount to 46 billion by 1947, to 48.2 billion by 1957 and reduced the amount slightly last year to 47.7 billion.

In 1940 we owned 18.7 billion in the form of shares in savings and loan associations, in deposits in credit unions, in other U. S. government, state and local government securities. By 1947 this figure increased to 37.2 billion. Ten years later it hit 91 billion, last year 95.9 billion.

Additional to these liquid assets are our holdings of corporate securities which last year alone rose to 469.4 billion from 363.1 billion in 1947. In both 1952 and 1953, these holdings represented but some 200 billion.

All of this wealth represents money able to circulate and circulating.

What about our personal debt? It is climbing too, but only relatively and the economists claim at least 75 per cent of us are pretty solvent.

Back in 1940 we owed but 12.4 billion dollars on our homes, but 21.1 billion in 1947. By last year this figure had soared to 106.3 billion, up from 1957's 97 billion.

In 1940 consumer debt represented but 6.5 billion, rose to 8.9 billion by 1947 and in the next years climbed to 40 billion.

These figures of liquid assets and relatively small debt are but one facet in the story of inflation. Actually, we are not as liquid as

ONLY DAILY NEWSPAPERS SELL SOFT DRINKS FROM BOTTLER TO BUYER

THIS YEAR more than 35,000,000,000 bottles of soft drinks will be sold in the U.S. and Canada. The average consumption will reach 183 bottles per person. The amount spent for this sea of soft drinks will be well over $1,500,000,000!

Daily newspapers play a sparkling role in the steady growth of this billion dollar business. National soft drink companies find the daily newspaper's qualities uniquely helpful in solving their many marketing problems. And the daily newspaper's flexibility helps them adjust their advertising to regional and seasonal sales differences.

Local, regional and franchise bottlers, and retailers of soft drinks depend on the daily newspaper to reach the greatest number of consumers in their market. Last year local advertisers, including retailers of soft drinks, spent $2½ billion in newspapers—six times more than in radio; nine times more than in TV. Every day people buy 58,000,000 copies.

If you want to quench your thirst for sales, use the Total Selling daily newspaper. It sells products nationally and locally—all the way to the consumer.

Khrushchev Ahead on PointsVisits Will Get Both Men Off Hook for Time AnywayBy JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—How high is up? Or when is a summit conference not a summit conference?

No matter what they're called — and they are not being called summit conferences — the coming meetings between President Eisenhower and Premier Nikita Khrushchev get both men off a hook, for a while, anyway.

Yet, as of now, Khrushchev is away ahead on points in his duel with Eisenhower over Berlin where he precipitated a crisis which he has never let subside. He knows, and Eisenhower knows, he has the United States on a tough spot.

Gaining Point

As a result of all he has done, he is getting exactly what he wanted: a personal meeting with Eisenhower.

It seems safe to say that if Khrushchev hadn't caused the Berlin crisis, and refused to budge an inch, Eisenhower wouldn't be asking him to Washington in September.

The dictionary describes a summit as the highest point. Since Eisenhower and Khrushchev are the top men in their governments, no meeting between Americans and Russians could be any more of a summit than this one.

Still Eisenhower doesn't call Khrushchev's visit here and his later visit with him in Moscow a summit meeting. He says they will have "informal talks," which will afford an opportunity for an exchange of views about problems of mutual interest.

Will Tell Allies

Actually, the two men can reach understandings on their problems without signing formal papers. That could be done later — at a meeting officially billed as the summit — with Britain and France sitting in.

Whatever Eisenhower works out with Khrushchev will probably be acceptable to the Allies. He's making it plain he won't do anything behind their backs.

The Western alliance might have broken up if Eisenhower had let the Russians shut off Western access to West Berlin, as they had threatened to do, indirectly. So he couldn't afford to back down. Yet, if he called Khrushchev's hand and tried to run a blockade, the shooting might start.

Ugly Dilemma for Both

For both men this ugly dilemma may be solved in their talks. If not, at least the talks will have postponed the showdown for some months.

Eisenhower is saved from embarrassment in another way, since the meetings with Khrushchev will not bear the title of summit.

He had repeatedly refused to meet the Soviet leader at the summit unless the foreign ministers at Geneva made some progress. Since they haven't, he couldn't very well agree to a "summit" meeting with Khrushchev without appearing to cave in.

This way, since the talks will be "informal," that dilemma is removed.

If the West didn't get its troops out of Berlin, Khrushchev threatened to let the East German Communists control the road and routes through which the West sends supplies to West Berlin.

More Than in 1948

If they shut off the routes and the West tried to force its way through, Moscow promised to go to the help of the East Germans. But couldn't the allies send in supplies with an airlift, as President Truman had done in smashing Stalin's Berlin blockade in 1948?

Eisenhower at a White House dinner and in news conferences has made it plain the West's position is potentially far worse than what developed in 1948. Red jamming of Western radar would make a mass airlift very difficult. The Reds didn't interfere with the air transport in 1948.

And Western troops, overwhelmingly outnumbered by the Russians, admittedly would be no match for them on the ground.

$34.088 Appropriation Approved for Justices

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A $34.088 special appropriation to cover the cost of the new Supreme court justice in the Ninth Judicial District in southeastern New York has been approved by Gov. Rockefeller and legislative leaders.

The 1959 Legislature authorized the additional judgeship. But funds to finance the post were not included in the regular budget.

The Budget Division said the appropriation would pay the salaries of the new justice, Hugh S. Coyle, and his confidential clerk through the end of fiscal 1959-60. Coyle, appointed by Rockefeller, took office July 1.

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City will cooperate with the State Department in receiving Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev next month if he comes to this city.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner said Monday that the city would cooperate to any extent requested by the State Department in extending official greeting to the Soviet leader.

The likely security provisions for visit would probably be the most elaborate in the city's history.

Wagner said the city would cooperate in the reception "regardless of any opinion we may have about the Soviet system of government."

Two years ago he refused to extend an official greeting to King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia, on the grounds that slavery and anti-Semitism were practiced in that country.

"I am sure that after Premier Khrushchev gets a first-hand view of the wonders of New York he will have fewer doubts about the workings of our own system," Wagner said.

Thousands of police will protect Khrushchev if he comes here, although the exact number would depend on how long he stayed and where he went.

Almost 5,000 police were assigned to control the crowds in 1957, when Queen Elizabeth of Britain visited here. The force numbers 23,500 men.

A homemaker was struggling with directions for installing a new wall-type can-opener. After several unsuccessful attempts she gave up and went to get her glasses for a closer look at the directions.

When she retired the opener was neatly in place and the cook was already using it.

Mistress (astonished) — How in the world did you get this up? You've told me you can't read!

Cook—Well, ma'am, when you can't read, you've just got to think.

The home-owner was delighted with the way the painter had decorated his house.

Home-owner—You did a fine job and I'm going to give you a little something extra. Here's $10. Take the missus to a show.

That night the bell rang and the painter stood at the door, all dressed up.

Home-owner—What is it, did you forget something?

Painter—No, I just came to take the missus to a show.

The teacher was giving the next day's assignment.

Wolfert Novel In National Mag

A condensed version of a forthcoming Ira Wolfert novel is featured in the Book Section of the August issue of Reader's Digest.

The condensation is entitled "Victory in the Dust Bowl," but the tentative title of the novel when it is published by Simon and Schuster is "An Epidemic of Genius."

It is a stirring and intensely dramatic story of two people who refused to be defeated by the great American Dust Bowl and who fought against tremendous odds until they made their land—and their lives—rich again.

Wolfert, a summer resident of Woodstock is an associate editor of Readers Digest and a former Pulitzer Prize winner. He received the Kingston Newspaper Guild's annual award in journalism at the Page One Ball in May of this year.

Lydia Fruhauf, Reilly Student, Poster Winner

Lydia Fruhauf, who studied in art classes at the Art Students League under Frank J. Reilly, has been awarded first prize in the 1959 Fire Prevention Week Poster contest of the National Board of Fire Underwriters. Mrs. Fruhauf received a $300 check as the prize.

This was the second contest sponsored by the National Board. In last year's contest, also restricted to members of the Reilly classes—she was a runner-up. Reilly, as usual, is teaching summer classes at the Woodstock branch of the Art Students League.

The poster will be looking at us from 1,500,000 locations across the country during Fire Prevention Week, October 4-10.

Louis De Donato took the second prize of $200 and Roger Kastel, the third, a check for $100.

Lydia Fruhauf is one of Frank J. Reilly's most dedicated students. She was born in Switzerland and educated in Holland. She came to the United States in 1950. One of her works, a painting of a shipwreck, was reproduced in the 1959-60 League catalogue.

Three Big B's Are Featured in Wolman Recital

The music of the three B's—Bach, Beethoven and Brahms—will be heard in a special evening recital by Joseph Wolman, pianist, Thursday, Aug. 6, at 8:45 p. m. at the Maverick Concert Hall, under the sponsorship of the Woodstock Festival of Music and Art.

The distinguished pianist, New York-born and noted in the city as a performing artist, lecturer and teacher, has appeared several times in Woodstock to unanimous acclaim: the last time in the Maverick Sunday Concert of July 26.

Wolman has likewise enthralled audiences in every part of the world; has appeared as soloist, chamber music pianist, and in collaboration with such outstanding soloists as Toscha Seidel, Frances Alda, Maria Kurenko, William Kroll, Carroll Glenn and Joan Field.

The program Thursday evening will include the Prelude and Fugue in C Minor and Prelude and Fugue in F Minor by Bach; Beethoven's Sonata Pathétique, Opus 13, and Sonata in E Flat Major, Opus 31; and six selections by Brahms: Intermezzo in E Major, Intermezzo in C Major, Intermezzo in A Minor, Capriccio in F Sharp Minor, Intermezzo in E Flat Minor and Rhapsody in G Minor.

Color Music Show By H. Herrschaft Scores Big Hit

A most appreciative and responsive audience enjoyed the program of Color Music given by William Herrschaft with his Mobiliux, truly a visual experience, at the Colony Arts Center in Woodstock.

The program was followed by eager and lively questions and discussions, with Herrschaft invited to return to Woodstock next summer. The following responses are most expressive:

"Man beholds joy and is often moved deeply by the work of the artist—a particularly fine opportunity to witness a creative man at his best was offered last Friday and Saturday evenings by William Herrschaft at the Colony Arts Center in Woodstock. With his Mobiliux, he presented slowly moving but rapidly changing shapes, in color, upon a screen accompanied by or to the accompaniment of music. Surely to the many painters present the spectacle of richly colored planes suspended in deep space on the flat two-dimensional surface of the screen was a reminder of their own art. By the use of the electric light, Herrschaft has, with great ease and good taste exaggerated and extended the richness and color of planal surfaces in a fine plastic manner. One feels timelessness as being explicit—there is neither day nor night—but the sense of color only, by the means of light. It should be said that the scholarly introduction by Mrs. Herrschaft contributed greatly to a most happy and satisfactory performance of an unusual art." Another response—"A magic moment when the dark screen almost imperceptibly begins to

With Famous Conductors

Miss Britt has also appeared in many chamber music concerts and in solo recitals throughout the United; and in 1957 went on a tour of Greece, various Middle East countries, Pakistan and India. She has played for many famous conductors, including Dmitri Mitropoulos, Antal Dorati, Pierre Monteux, Bruno Walter, George Szell and others.

Ise Sass, pianist, renowned in this country and abroad, needs no introduction to Woodstock audiences, who have been privileged to hear her in many concerts and recitals throughout the past dozen years.

The Sunday program includes: Loeillet's Trio Sonata; Sonata in D Major for Cello and Piano by Bach; Beethoven's Duo in C Major for Flute and Cello; Debussy's Syrinx for Flute; Dans La Palmeraie of Andre Bloch and Martinu's Trio.

glow—blue, dull red at first and green in a pattern slowly moving, soft edged. Then brighter, more distinct, red coals flaring briefly, then dimming. Now new colors, lavender, red-violet, Prussian blue stains. A small oval, not noticed before, grows and floods across, lighting vertical forms with icy green splinters. A first statement of the theme. Cold green, diffusing while crimson takes over, breaks up into complex developing, with yellow, orange, light grays into new groupings... fading stronger... moving into the heart of the fluted vertical theme.

This member of the audience (both nights) was so caught in that prismatic spell that he now dares to prophesy: In the future, film recordings of Moving Color compositions for home projectors will be as standard as today's recordings of musical works. This will be an important art. And there will be names, some popular, others great, names to link with Bach, Bartok, or Cezanne or Kandinsky, or de Kooning or Dylan Thomas. Do you believe this? Or weren't you there?"

Open Battle Seen On Labor Control

WASHINGTON (AP)—A wide-open floor battle over labor control legislation was indicated today as the House Rules Committee called hearings to determine procedure.

Without working over the legislation itself, the committee decides on debate limits, the extent of amendments to be allowed, and ground rules which play a big part in shaping House action on bills.

Before it was a bill approved 16-14 by the House Labor Committee but opposed by many who want it changed on the House floor.

The committee consequently was expected to send the bill to the floor wide-open to amendment to satisfy members who contend it is too weak and needs strengthening, and others who say it is too tough and needs toning down.

The Rules Committee, under pressure to get the bill before the House this week, suspended hearings on other legislation to give it priority.

As it came from the Labor Committee, the measure eased many restrictions of the Senate-passed bill but followed that bill's general pattern.

It would ban "hot cargo" clauses in union contracts and extortion picketing. A modified labor "bill of rights" is included, but without the criminal penalties the Senate voted for violations. The bill would require unions to make extensive financial reports and would require the National Labor Relations Board to take jurisdiction in all labor dispute cases. The board may now decline jurisdiction in small cases, and the states are prohibited from acting.

It strongest and most influential backing came Monday from Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.), who declared: "I think it does a splendid job." Rayburn said the Labor Committee bill "covers racketeering in a fine fashion."

But only five of the 30 Labor Committee members had a good word to say for it. The others said it would be too tough on labor, or not tough enough.

Kingston Nationals Overpower Catskill, 4-0, in Tourney

Johnstown Beats Kingston, 5-0, for State Babe Ruth Title

Ackert, Kelder Star; Locals Slated to Play Friday in Schenectady

Richie Kelder slammed a home run with one on in the third inning and Bruce Ackert hurled superlative ball yesterday at Highland as the Kingston Nationals continued on the Little League tournament road with a neat 4-0 win over Catskill, and District 15 champions.

The Kingston nine will play at Schenectady on Friday in an attempt to reach the state playoffs, scheduled for next weekend in Poughkeepsie. The state winner plays at Hy Turkin Field, New York, for the Regional championship and that winner goes to Williamsport for the Little League World Series.

Kelder broke up a scoreless hurling duel between Ackert and Dana Hansik of Catskill with his third inning blast. Those runs proved to be enough. However, two more came home in the sixth to give Ackert a bigger working margin. He set down the losers in the last of the inning to earn his shutout. In fact, Catskill did not get a runner as far as third base during the game.

Eddie Mills had a pair of singles for the Nationals and Vince Fisher stroked a ringing double. Ackert walked two batters and struck out six in his route going performance.

Green to Debut in Boston Tonight

BOSTON (AP)—Pumpie Green, once the center of a racial protest, makes his Fenway Park debut tonight.

Green, the first Negro player ever to play for Boston, was called up from Minneapolis during the Red Sox' recent road trip. Since then he has established himself as a Red Sox regular.

Green was with Boston during spring training, but when he was sent to Minneapolis for further seasoning several groups charged the Red Sox with discrimination. Green stayed out of the controversy. The Red Sox denied the charges and later were cleared of them.

Grace Frost Sets New Harness Mark With 2:02 Mile

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Grace Frost is proving herself as one of harness racing's hottest properties.

Without the stimulus of challenge, she set a national season record for 3-year-old trotting filies by dashing a 2:02 mile at Vernon Downs Monday night.

Grace Frost pulled to a 12-length lead in the backstretch and finished the course under a free rein, winning by seven lengths.

She was driven by Lou Rapone, whose wife Betty owns the horse. The Rapone stables are in Caledonia.

Grace Frost paid $3.50. Burwell Hanover and Chipman's Heel poured it on in stretch drives at Roosevelt Raceway for victories in the trials of the Hopeful Pace for 2-year-old colts and geldings.

Burwell Hanover won by a nose in the first division over fast-closing Lieut. Byrd. His time for the mile was 2:04 4-5 and he paid $14. Billy Haughton's Kashworthy was third.

Chipman's Heel was a three-quarter length victor over Gene Direct in the second trial with a 2:04 1-5 mile. Bright Knight, winner of the $123,712.50 Empire Pace at Yonkers Raceway last week, was third. Chipman's Heel paid $12.10.

Nine juveniles are qualified for the $9,600 finals of the Hopeful next Monday.

Other feature-race results: Saratoga Raceway — Day Song Clay ($7.50) and Vitaphone ($4.60) won the two division of the $3,000 Coxackie Trot.

Monticello Raceway — Alcita ($4.20) won the featured pace. Batavia Downs — Protector C. Dillon ($6.80) won the featured Class B pace.

The victory over the Dodgers was a mere statistic, as the title had been won earlier. The champions staked Bob Aiello to a 12-0 lead in the first inning and he went on to check the losers on three hits in a game halted by rain at the end of four innings.

Casey Happy His Stars Won Game in LA

By PATRICK MCNULTY
Associated Press Sports Writer.
LOS ANGELES (AP) — "We're glad we came out here, we're glad we won."

Casey Stengel was doing the talking after his American Leaguers knocked off the National League 5-3 Monday.

Lounging against a rubbing table in the dressing room, Stengel shouted over the knot of sports writers clustered around him:

"Everyone had a part in it. Any man I didn't use, I want to apologize to. I couldn't use everybody."

Yankee Yogi Berra, who hit a two-run homer far over the 333 foot right field barrier, said the Coliseum's 250-foot left field fence didn't help him any.

But Frank Malzone of the Red Sox, who dropped a home run just over the left field screen, said with a laugh:

"Hitting a home run here was a lot easier than I thought it would be."

Down the hall in the National League dressing room, Manager Fred Haney said quietly:

"It was a good game. We just got beat, that's all. We had a couple of chances to score and we missed."

"We made as many hits, we just didn't make as many runs," said Haney, whose National League club beat the Americans 5-4 in the other All-Star game this season in Pittsburgh.

Haney said it's difficult to win when his team's No. 3, 4 and 5 hitters, the meat of the batting order, fail to hit. Hank Aaron, Willie Mays and Ernie Banks went 0 for 11.

Locals Unable To Get Key Hit At Amsterdam

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Unable to produce in several clutch situations proved fatal for the Kingston Nationals yesterday at Amsterdam and the locals were beaten in the state finals of the Babe Ruth Baseball tournament, 5-0, by Johnstown.

The winning club thus joins other successful teams in the Middle Atlantic Region next week at Griffith Stadium, Washington, D. C. for the Regional playoffs with the winner then meeting for the national crown in Stockton, California.

Little Mike Ferraro was a tough luck loser. He had a two hitter going until the seventh inning but he still was on the short end of a 2-0 count. Mike lost his edge in the last frame as the winners put the game in a deep freeze by scoring three runs more.

Sharp fielding and good hitting, which had been instrumental in Kingston reaching the state finals, were lacking in the championship contest. For instance, the Nationals had runners on base in every inning but the second and seventh. Yet, they couldn't send a runner across home plate.

Ferraro got into first frame difficulty as leadoff batter Bob Hall beat out a bunt and Vinnie Smedes dropped a throw on a sacrifice by Mike Horning, however, Al DiCruttallo hit to Ferraro and he forced Hall at third. Then catcher Gerry Gaydusek rapped into a double play to thwart the bid.

Kingston loaded the sacks against starter Skip Scofield in its half of the first. With one out, Smedes drew a pass and Ferraro singled him to second base. However, Richie Sickler struck out. After Bill Boice reached first on an error, Jim Bruck skied out to center field.

Ferraro escaped a tough situation in the second after a mis-play by Smedes and a walk had put two runners on with two outs. Mike got Scofield to pop to the second baseman.

Break the Ice
Some loose play broke the scoring ice for Johnstown in the fourth frame and for all intents and purposes, clinched the game and the title.

After Gaydusek started the frame with a solid double to deep left field, Dom Ruggeri flied out. Then Timmer Whittingham hit to Smedes and he threw to Hutch Davide at third base in plenty of time to get the front runner. However, Davide dropped the toss.

After Jim Michaelson sacrificed Whittingham to second, Steve LaMantia hit to Davide at third and his throw to first base was low and it bounced to right field. Two runs scored but LaMantia was out trying to reach third on the error.

The locals had another threat in the last of the fourth. Boice and John Falvey singled in between an out. But John Hetsco hit a hard shot at second which was turned into a double play.

In the fifth inning, Davide and Smedes walked with one out. However, Ferraro, who had two of the five Kingston hits, flied out to center and Sickler was called out on strikes.

Final Chance
The final opportunity for the locals came in the sixth and some poor base running killed the bid. Boice walked to begin the frame and after Bruck struck out, Falvey lined a hit to center. However, Boice tried to reach third when the center fielder bobbled the ball and he was out by ten feet.

A single, double, a successful double steal and then another single gave Johnstown its three final runs in the seventh. Relief pitcher Bob Cole, who took over in the fifth, set down the locals in quick order in the last half of the frame to clinch the championship.

Frank Sammons, Kingston's All-DUSO catcher in 1958, and the Old Timers Baseball Association's Player of the Year, has been elected captain of the Mohawk Valley Technical Institute (Utica) varsity for the 1960 season.

He also added a trophy to his growing collection of crockery, receiving a special award for achievement in baseball at a recent dinner given by the Varsity Club of the school.

Flotsam and Jetsam:

Ageless Billy (The Kid) Ostrom is on a batting spree in the Interstate League. In two successive games recently, he had seven hits in 10 times at bat, five of them triples. . . . Merchants in Monticello have complained about the daytime races listed Aug. 22 at Monticello Raceway, holding that the matinee card will take away business. They were told that this was an experiment for one day only and that, in the event the shows were sought on a regular basis next year, public hearings would be called to sound out opinion. . . . Monty Stickle is getting the treatment from two different national polls, each selecting him as an All-America end this fall. Understatement of the century, in the finest Frank Leahy tradition, was Coach Joe Kuharich's recent remark that he "didn't know very much about Stickle and George Izo, the passing phenom. Apparently poor old Joe was so wrapped up worrying about his Washington Redskins in the National Football League he never got a chance to read the Sunday papers.

Of Men and Mice:

Because of a mixup in assigning times for umpires in the American League tournament, Tony Ravish, the New York Giant scout from Hudson, came to the ball park as a spectator and bird dog and went home an umpire. . . . It seems that Ed Coughlin, local oil distributor and baseball figure of considerable stature, is showing some of the local anglers how to catch bass. Coughlin, better known to his fishing friends as "Gadaway Gaddis" has quite the eye for spot casting with his secret lure, or is it his guide that's helping him catch the fish? Come on, Ed, how about letting the boys in on the secret? . . . Bruce Wiederspiel's Albright College football varsity has a nine-game schedule starting Sept. 26 against Drexel. Other opponents are Lebanon Valley, Lycoming, Gettysburg, Scranton, Moravian, Muhlenberg, Juniata and Franklin and Marshall. . . . Kingston High is still looking for that eighth football game, but at this writing nobody seems willing to tackle the Maroon. Such is the price of fame.

Quotes From the Dugout:

Stan Musial—"Ernie Banks of the Cubs is one of the best wrist hitters I've ever seen, but more than that, he has never stopped trying to learn. I don't think he's reached his peak yet." (National League pitchers, please note.)

Alvin Dark (Chicago Cub infielder now in his 12th major league season): "I feel fine, and it is my theory a man is no older than he feels. Barring injuries, I believe I can have at least two more years of good baseball. The important thing is to take care of yourself and forget your age."

Carl Furillo (Cleveland Dodger outfielder who entered the 1959 season with a lifetime batting mark of .300): "Looking back now, I wish I had learned to switch hit. I'm going to teach my youngest son, John, to hit from both sides of the plate."

Elroy Face (Pittsburgh Pirate relief pitcher incomparable): "I credit the durability of my right arm to my winter occupation—carpentry. Like Murray Dickson, who also is a carpenter and went a long time without a sore arm. I definitely believe the active use of the arm in hammering and sawing, keeps it in shape."

PRODS POP: Gus Bell, Cincinnati outfielder, was telling a friend about his seven-year-old son, a Knottle Leaguer. "It gets a little embarrassing when he says, 'I hit four home runs today. Pop, how's you make out?'" Bell drove in four runs in a game, which he explained to teammates with "I've got to hit now—in self defense."

Braves to Play Saugerties Nine In NY-NJ Tilt

One of the biggest attractions in several seasons will take place Saturday when Community Baseball Night is scheduled to take place at Dietz Stadium. The Kingston Braves, who will be honored, will collide with the strong Saugerties Dutchmen in a standard New York-New Jersey League contest. Game time is 8:30 p. m. and activities will get underway about 7:30.

The Kingston Citizens' Committee, which was organized several weeks ago to help keep organized baseball in Kingston, is sponsoring the game and chairman George Svirsky said that many surprises are in store for the spectators.

Fred's Birthday
Bossman Fred Davi has a special incentive for wanting to win the tilt. It will not only keep the Braves in the running for the league pennant, but it's also Davi's birthday. He would like nothing better than to make up for a defeat suffered at the hands of the Dutchmen several weeks ago.

Children under 15 years of age will be admitted free of charge on Saturday if they are accompanied by adults. They will also receive free ice cream.

The Uptown Merchants Association is cooperating in staging the gala event and several substantial prizes will be awarded. They will be made known later in the week.

It is expected that the largest crowd in several seasons will attend Saturday night's activities.

'Ladies Night' Is Scheduled At Monticello Track Aug. 11

MONTICELLO — Something new at the trotters will be staged at Monticello Raceway the evening of Tuesday, August 11, when in conjunction with the track's first "Ladies Night" a full-scale fashion show will precede the races.

Arrangements have been concluded with six leading fashion houses to preview their 1960 styles, according to Raceway president and general manager Franklin E. Devlin.

The show will be produced by Marcia's, with resort shops in Monticello, Liberty, Klamath Lake and Ellenville. It will be limited to a half hour prior to the races—from 8 to 8:30 p. m.

The fashion parade will be held in front of the modern all-steel Raceway grandstand, featuring local women and professional models.

This is the first special event of this nature staged at the Raceway and is expected to gain favorable interest from the many feminine patrons.

Giants, Braves Set For Crucial Series

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—League - leading San Francisco, bolstered by rookie Willie McCovey, gets the acid test tonight as the Giants open a three-game series with the Milwaukee Braves.

The Giants lead Los Angeles by only half a game and the Braves are just another half-game behind the Dodgers.

It was just a year ago that the Giants, one game behind the Braves in another National League spin-flinger, moved into Milwaukee for a four-game series.

The Braves swept the set, dropping the Giants five games behind. The San Franciscans never threatened again.

Last year the Giants, finishing 12 games behind Milwaukee, beat the Braves only six times in 22 games. This year San Francisco has won five of 14 encounters.

It'll be a battle of left-handers tonight. Giants Manager Bill Rigney will send his young Mike McCormick (10 - 8) against the Braves' veteran Warren Spahn (14-10).

The Braves, straightened out again after their longest losing streak since 1953, have now won eight of their last 10 games. The Giants' thanks mostly to their lanky new first baseman, McCovey, are on a four-game winning streak.

McCovey was brought up Thursday after the San Franciscans lost four straight. With McCovey hitting .500, they haven't lost since.

Yogi's Homer Wins It Before 54,982 at Coliseum

By BOB MYERS

Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The count stood all square at one apiece for the 1959 All-Star classics between the American and National League today. And back to the formal pennant races went the ballplayers.

Manager Casey Stengel's American Leaguers pinned a 5-3 defeat on Fred Haney's Nationals as a paid attendance of 54,982, fourth highest in the game's history, sat through the game in sun-baked Memorial Coliseum Monday.

The victory avenged a 5-4 setback absorbed by the Stengel men in the first All-Star game July 7 at Pittsburgh.

The game grossed $283,120 and netted, after taxes, $262,336.47.

The Pittsburgh game grossed $229,836 and netted $194,303.46.

Individual honors went to catcher Yogi Berra of the Yankees, whose two-run blast off Dodger pitcher Don Drysdale put the Americans in front, 3-1, in the third inning for a lead they never relinquished.

Oddly enough, this was Yogi's 11th All-Star appearance but the first time he had hit for extra bases.

Sluggers Halted
Collective honors went to the American League pitchers who throttled such sluggers as Hank Aaron, Ernie Banks, and Willie Mays.

The winning pitcher was Jerry Walker of Baltimore, 20 who just a year ago was laboring for Knoxville, Tenn. in the Class A Sally League.

Walker, inserted into the squad the afternoon before, yielded but one run and two hits in the three innings he worked.

The loser was strikeout artist Don Drysdale of the Dodgers. Don served up home run balls to Frank Malzone of the Red Sox and Berra.

"This was a great day for the Italians," said Yogi, referring to the homerun by Rocky Colavito of Cleveland in the eighth inning and Malzone's four bagger.

Sharing pitching honors with Walker were Early Wynn, Hoyt Wilhelm, Billy O'Dell and Cal McLish.

For the Nationals, Dodger Jim Gilliam and Frank Robinson of Cincinnati smacked homeruns.

The contest, which lasted 2 hours and 42 minutes, had its moments.

Ted, Stan Applauded
One came with the introduction of the All-Stars. It was hard to say which, if either, drew the biggest hand — big Ted Williams of the Red Sox.

Of course, such Los Angeles idols as Gilliam, Wally Moon, Drysdale and Charlie Neal drew hearty applause. But Williams, in his 16th All-Star game, and Musial in his record 17th, were the sentimental heroes.

Malzone's homer came in the second inning, which tied the score at 1-1 after Johnny Temple had doubled in the first and flied.

In the third, Nellie Fox singled and scored on Berra's homer. From there on it was a homer duel, with the Americans leading the way.

Sleepy Tumble
CLEVELAND (AP)—Johnny Mohoric, 21, wound up in the hospital because he fell asleep at the dinner table, fell off his chair and bumped his head. His mother says in the past, Johnny's trouble has been an abundance of energy. When the accident happened, he was recovering from a fractured collarbone received when he tumbled down 15 steps.

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—John O. McFarland went fishing in a gopher hole in his yard and made a catch. He baited fish hook with grass and caught his gopher.

Saugerties Problem

Neighbors Object To Dog Kennels On Ulster Avenue

A petition signed by six village residents objecting to the "noise and stench" reportedly coming from the dog kennels of Dr. James C. Crandall, village veterinarian of Ulster Avenue was read at the Saugerties Village Board meeting Monday night.

Village Clerk Ernest R. Ackert read the petition signed by Joseph Laumer, F. J. Grady, Edward Kiernan, Irving Mills, Robert J. Welsh, and Vincent Berzal.

The petition objected to the "dogs barking all night" and the "stench of burning waste."

Following discussion, the board authorized the village clerk to write to the County Board of Health regarding the "stench of burning waste," and to notify the petitioners that barking of dogs is difficult to control as the situation does not violate the village zoning ordinance. It was pointed out that Dr. Crandall's kennels were located at the Ulster Avenue address prior to zoning.

Another resident, George Warringer of John Street, brought a problem regarding the flooding of his property reportedly coming from village lands.

Warringer told the board that his property is flooded each time it rains by water flowing from the Derby property owned by the village on John Street. He said that the condition is caused by the removal of curbing. Warringer asked the village to replace the curbing and offered to put up posts for a fence he would like the village to build between the properties. The board tabled the matter for further study.

Further study will also be given by the board on the possibility of the village adopting the State Building Code, John G. Wetzel and Harry Foster of the Bureau of State Building Codes, Division of Housing, New York City appeared to discuss the proposal.

The board granted C. A. Lynch Fire Company permission to sponsor a circus on the Knaust lot at the end of Market Street on Friday, Aug. 14. King Brothers Circus will present a three-ring performance—matinee and evening—for the Lynch volunteers. The proceeds will be used for the Christmas candy fund. August Fellows made the request for the firemen.

George Gardner, sewer disposal plant operator asked the board to authorize purchase of equipment for the plant which was estimated to cost $125 to $150. He was instructed to secure complete specifications and prices.

Village Clerk Ackert was requested to write a letter of thanks from the board to Saugerties Central School District for the $100 contribution toward the swimming instruction program of the village at Saugerties Municipal Beach.

A request for parking space on James Street for the car of Dr. Richard Wenger was refused by the board. The board ruled that such a grant would be a violation of the parking meter ordinance. Dr. Wenger in his request said he was willing to pay for the meter space if it were kept open for his convenience.

Saugerties Sales and Service was granted permission to hold a used car auction Aug. 6 from 8 to 11:30 p. m. on their Ulster Avenue lot. The firm must pay a $5 license fee to the village clerk for the privilege.

Saugerties Girls Club was given permission to hold a tag day in the village on Saturday, Aug. 15 as part of its fund raising campaign.

The board authorized the village clerk to advertise for bids on a truck for the Village Department of Public Works. Bids will be opened at the board meeting of Aug. 17.

The board approved purchase of 500 feet of fabric fire hose from Fabric Fire Hose Co., F. R. Lester of Walkkill to be used by village fire companies. The total purchase will not exceed $1,000.

Study Forfeiture Of $40,000 Bond On BH Facilities

Forfeiture of a $40,000 performance bond guaranteeing proper installation of drainage and roads in the Barclay Heights development of Jack Davis is under consideration this week to solve the problems of residents in that area.

Town officials have been conferring with A. K. Bennett, claims attorney of the Fidelity and Deposit Insurance Company of Maryland which holds the $40,000 bond posted by the builder.

If the bond is forfeited the Town of Saugerties could assume title to the roads in the development and put its own equipment to work correcting the water and road problems.

Town Supervisor Peter M. Williams has received many complaints about flooded cellars and yards and about ditches and culverts left open at each driveway. Specifications call for removal of the culverts and grading of lawns to road level.

Also necessary on the part of the development corporation is the construction of a head wall at the end of the development's storm drain and construction of a catch basin on the west side of Birchwood Drive near Manor Lane.

Bennett told town officials that he will contact Davis for the purpose of alleviating the problems coming under the contract. The condition has existed over two years, officials said.

If the builder fails to comply, the town will assume title to the road and claim the bond forfeited. The town would clear up the obstacles and be reimbursed by the bonding company. The development was established about four years ago.

Asks Statewide Minimum Wage For Policemen

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The former president of the Police Conference of New York today urged a statewide minimum wage to be set for policemen.

In a speech to the 34th annual meeting of the conference, Frank J. Carr said:

"Why, I ask, with all the (police) regulations stemming from Albany, is it too much to establish a minimum wage which reflects the true function of the policeman?"

Carr warned that inadequate police salaries were a menace to the security and well-being of the public by the creation of low police morale. He did not specify what the minimum pay should be.

Carr, onetime deputy police commissioner of Buffalo, spoke to 750 members of the conference on the second day of their four-day meeting.

State Sen. Thomas J. Mackell (D-Queens) told the meeting last night that law officers should be provided with grievance procedures. Mackell, a former New York City policeman, said policemen were without the right to bargain with their municipal employers for wage increases.

Ellsworth said the checks were in denominations of $365; $74.78; $48 and $13.

The Reader

Classified Advertising, as it is known today, is the oldest form of advertising. Its origin being traced back more than 250 years to the early days of newspapers. A time when all other accepted forms of advertising had not yet been devised by man.

Classified Advertising is the only advertising media of the great masses of the public. The place where the people, who make up any community, can for a low cost, make known to thousands their wishes, desires, wants and needs. Because Classified Advertising is the media where people place their OWN advertising . . . it is the media they just naturally turn to when they have a want or need.

Business men, having recognized that Classified Advertising is one of the most powerful of all "Public Announcement" media, also utilize the people's advertising market place to offer for sale their merchandise and services in an effort to assist you, the reader and user of classified, in solving your wants, needs and desires.

Because classified advertising is your advertising media, The Kingston Daily Freeman has established many rules of ethics in advertising governing the placing of advertising. These rules are for the protection of the reader and advertiser alike. They assure the reader of a clean cut, clear and honest presentation of the items advertised. These same rules protect the business concerns against unfair, misleading advertising of the unscrupulous . . . thereby maintaining readership at the highest possible level.

Readership of advertising . . . means results for all. The Kingston Daily Freeman Classified is one of the best edited, best checked advertising media in America. The Kingston Daily Freeman Classified is one of world leaders in maintaining clean advertising columns.

You, as a reader; and you, as an advertiser, are invited to assist us in maintaining advertising results at the highest possible level by discussing any and all advertising that has not given you an accurate picture of the product or service advertised.

State Will Demand Death for Three Men

LAGRANGE, Ga. (AP) — The state will demand the death penalty for three Negroes accused of raping two white women last Saturday, Solicitor General Wright Lipford said Monday.

The trio will go on trial next Monday.

A grand jury, which included one Negro, returned two indictments in the case Monday. The first charges Clifford Johnson, 32, Brannon Epps, 24, and George Alford Jr., 18, with raping one of the women. The other indictment charges Epps and Alford with raping the other victim.

Johnson and Epps are Lagrange laborers. Alford is a former soldier of Dayton, Ohio.

Police said the three Negroes had raped the women after first scaring them away from their escorts and finally snatching them from three would-be Negro protectors.

Youth Is Charged With Murdering Elderly Woman

NEW YORK (AP) — A 17-year-old boy who was unhappy at home was charged with homicide today in the robbery-slaying of an elderly scrubwoman.

Police said Daniel Swiatowski admitted strangling the woman, who was rumored in the neighborhood to have a lot of money. The boy said he wanted money so he could run away to California.

Police said her bank accounts totaled $30,000, but all the boy got was $1.11 he found in a coffee cup in her refuse-cluttered Brooklyn apartment.

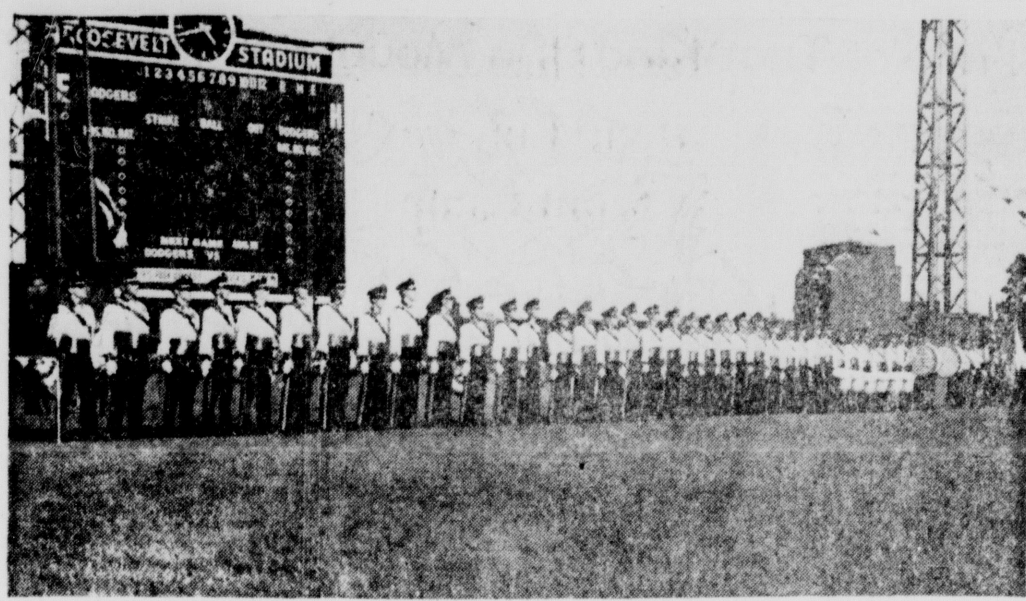

He also took a watch, which he sold to a man on the street for three dollars, police said.

The woman, Mrs. Catherine Zivisky, 78, was found dead in her apartment last week. A scarf had been knotted around her throat.

Police said the boy lived only two blocks from her. He had been having trouble at home, had been thrown out of school, and was unable to get a job.

Police suspected him when he was reported missing soon after the slaying and they caught him Monday night.

He said he bummed around for a few days but finally came home because he was tired and hungry.

Assault, Robbery At Poughkeepsie

Search was underway today in Dutchess County for three men wanted for questioning in connection with an assault and robbery which occurred late Monday night on Main Street opposite the Arlington firehouse, Town of Poughkeepsie.

Patrolman Ted Fortino said Luc C. Gonzales, 45, of 68 Cumerland Walk, Brooklyn, told authorities he was assaulted and robbed by three men as he walked west on Main Street at about 11:30 p. m.

Town Police Lieutenant Hugh Dakin, who is directing the investigation, said Gonzales claims he was robbed of $120. The man said he had been to Nick Ben's Anchor Inn looking for a job. He said he left the restaurant at about 11:10 p. m. and headed for the City of Poughkeepsie where he is visiting friends.

As he approached Jones Street about a block away from Ben's three men accosted him. Gonzales told police. One of the trio asked for a cigarette and Gonzales said he didn't smoke. The man then asked for a match and the Brooklyn man again said he didn't smoke.

The three men jumped Gonzales and a tussle ensued. During the scuffle, the job-seeker told police later he was knocked to the sidewalk and his wallet containing the money and personal papers was taken by one of the trio. The three men then fled from the scene.

Town Police were notified and Poughkeepsie City authorities were alerted. Patrolman Chester Bowles took Gonzales to Vassar Hospital where the assault victim was treated for a nose injury.

Patrolmen John Lochner and John Ansbach conducted the preliminary investigation for Town Police.
